THE CASE FOR GAMES

Any successful behavioral initiative has to be motivating & culturally relevant.

Gaming is the most widespread cultural medium,
and it's only getting bigger.

Games are incredibly effective at internalizing motivation

KUDOS
Kids love to cheer
each other on!

The screenshot displays the KUDOS app interface. At the top, the header includes a profile icon, the text "MATHEMATICS", and a dropdown menu showing "Class Tools / Shrine of the Ancients (Kudos)". To the right of the header are tabs for "Class Wall" and "Inbox". A left sidebar contains icons for home, people, calendar, location, and chat. Below the header, a "View" section shows a filter for "All Time (8)". The main content area features a grid of praise cards against a background of a forest with purple flowers. Each card includes a star icon, a "To:" recipient, a message, a "From:" sender with a profile picture, and a date.

PLAYING CARDS.io

Playingcards.io

What is it?

- 1) A tool that allows you to play &/or create all sorts of board, card & “dice” games online.
- 2) FREE!!!!
- 3) Works similar to a Gimkit/QuizletLive or Kahoot in how you use a room code
- 4) Time saving in the long run

PROs

- 1) You are only limited by your imagination.
- 2) Easy to share/copy & modify games to suit your needs.
- 3) Game files can be downloaded and saved for future use.
- 4) The site has been constantly updated since I've started using it.
- 5) Easy to used to and use.
- 6) Did I mention FREE!?!
- 7) You will never lose game bits (cards,dice, etc) again!

CONs

- 1) There is a bit of a learning curve. You will need to spend a little time learning it. Pro tip: Take an activity that has already been made, & to modify it to your needs
- 2) Games go away after 30 days of inactivity. Not a problem because you can download the game files.
- 3) You may have to create & share multiple room codes. Or do what I did.

What kinds of games can you make?

All kinds!

Exercise Group recording is open.

What is great about Sanako Connect

- 1) Intuitive activity creation
- 2) Very responsive to feedback

3) Excellent support!!

What kinds of activities have I done?

Covid played havoc on various assessments due to virtual teaching. But Sanako allowed me to tool to do oral assessments easier.

I did things like:

- 1) Reading & Answer Questions
- 2) Inserting your voice into a video
- 3) Recording pair conversations

However...there is sooo much more you can do beyond what I did....

Here are some activities I have made.

Sanako Connect x PlayingCards.io = Visiting a Friend

What kinds of activities can you do?

- 1) Reading out loud
- 2) Oral answers
- 3) Cloze activities
- 4) Multiple choice
- 5) Long written answers
- 6) Embedded videos/webpages
- 7) Oral feedback
- 8) Pair-Conversations (one I do a lot of for upper levels)*

Using the pair/group recorder can be used when students are playing games to get a formative idea of where they are at.

2020~21 was a crazy year to be a teacher, but...

Tools like Sanako Connect, Classcraft, Playingcards.io got us through it.

Here is a link to many of my digital resources that I found that I saved. Maybe some of them can help you moving forward. Some are specific to Japanese. However most are not.
